

We already release a considerable amount of information

People won't be interested in our data

We're too busy

All our data is confidential

We might have to translate into Welsh

No one has asked for it

This isn't a priority/where does this fit with other priorities

Others will misuse/misrepresent the data

Open Data: Changing Mindsets

We don't want to confuse developers by releasing too much

Our product is not designed for the public

We don't have any data

YOU don't have to do it

Our time is chargeable

We might lose our authoritative voice

We won't be able to control how the data is used

Our data is not appropriate to release, in our professional view

Cultural barriers: adapting to change

